Dear Dr. Malik,

Thank you for your application to the AASP's KS Yang Travel Award. I am glad to report that you have been selected as a winner of the KS Yang Travel Award for EdUHK's AASP 2023 conference. The award committee thought your research was valuable and congruent with the ethos of KS Yang's vision, and the decision was a difficult one, based on both applicant need and academic merit. Congratulations!

The award consists of a fee waiver for the conference, and an award of the equivalent of US$750 in the form of reimbursement for your expenses for travel to Hong Kong and/or accommodation in Hong Kong for the July 13-15 conference (4 nights). We will announce your name in the conference programme as a winner of the KS Yang Travel Award, but there are no other responsibilities you need to fulfill at the conference other than your already prepared presentation.

Dr. Wendy Li, cc'ed here, is the AASP's Treasurer, and will be able to help you later with receiving the reimbursement from the AASP; please contact her later to find out the process of submitting receipts and receiving the award amount. For the conference, we will mark your conference fee as "Waived," and you do not need to pay the conference fee.

Could you please reply to confirm that you will come to the AASP 2023 conference in-person, and that you can accept the award?

Congratulations again, and we look forward to meeting you at the conference!

Best wishes,
Emma E. Buchtel
