Report:

The next edition of the Orientation program was in the form of batch photography. The pupils from batch Y-22 gathered on the library lawn. They were instructed to form the shape of "Y-22" while seated. The students and those in the counselling cell had a great time. The event was organized by the members of the Counselling cell and was covered by "Imagination" -Photography club LNMIIT. For the new batch, the occasion served as a means of making memories and knowing batchmates.

Straight after the completion of the batch photography the students proceeded to CP to attend the second event of the day which was Duologue. This was conducted in union by the Counselling and Guidance Cell and the Media Cell. An exciting event where all the participants of the new batch were blindfolded and seated in pairs. The aim was to allow them to have a natural conversation with their peers without having any inhibitions or nervousness. It was also done in complete anonymity to make the event more interesting. The students thoroughly enjoyed the event.

The event received positive feedback from students, C-cell, and media cell team members.
